About East Bay Municipal Utility District

The East Bay Municipal Utility District (EBMUD) is a public utility formed under the Municipal Utility District (MUD) Act. EBMUD supplies water and provides wastewater treatment for parts of Alameda and Contra Costa counties in the Bay Area. EBMUD's water system serves approximately 1.4 million people in a 332-square mile area; the wastewater system serves approximately 685,000 people in an 88-square mile area.

Our mission is to manage the natural resources with which EBMUD is entrusted; to provide reliable, high quality water and wastewater services at fair and reasonable rates for the people of the East Bay; and to preserve and protect the environment for future generations.

Headquartered in Oakland, EBMUD is governed by a seven-member Board of Directors elected from wards within the service area. The Board determines overall policies, which are then implemented under the direction of the General Manager. Our watershed in the Sierra Mountains provides a high quality water source and our East Bay reservoirs offer serene settings for both wildlife and recreation. EBMUD is the west's largest independently operated water utility and a recognized water and wastewater industry leader. EBMUD's water and wastewater systems are expansive, extending from the Sierra Nevada mountains to San Francisco Bay, including 57,000 acres of watershed land; seven raw water reservoirs; 4,240 miles of aqueduct, transmission and distribution pipeline; 175 potable water reservoirs; 136 pumping plants; 29 miles of wastewater interceptor; three wastewater facilities and a main wastewater treatment plant; and three power generation facilities.

EBMUD has more than 1,900 employees, including a leadership team of 100 managers and analysts. Most employees are represented by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Locals 444 and 2019; the International Federation of Professional and Technical Engineers, Local 21; and the International Union of Operating Engineers, Local 39. EBMUD's workforce achieves its mission through its values of Stewardship, Integrity, Respect and Teamwork.

The East Bay

The East Bay climate is sunny with moderate temperatures, encouraging residents to pursue outdoor activities throughout the year. The marinas along San Francisco Bay offer outstanding sailing, boating and fishing. The East Bay has convenient access to the natural beauty and recreational resources of Northern California from the Pacific coastline to the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

The Oakland/San Francisco Bay Area boasts a wide variety of cultural attractions including theater, ballet, opera, museums and excellent restaurants. Sports enthusiasts have the opportunity to enjoy professional baseball, football and basketball teams, as well as many college events in the East Bay and San Francisco areas.
